Operational Excellence Training

Course overview

Lean Six Sigma is a vital business methodology that leads to improved efficiencies, reduced costs, improved quality and increased satisfaction for both customers and employees. As it is used by so many organisations, a basic understanding of the concepts is an essential tool for managers in any business.

This training course is designed to provide an awareness for anyone who needs to understand the techniques in order to champion the successful deployment within their organisation. It's also useful for those hoping to provide support to others who are using the techniques.

This Champion course is delivered by Master Black Belts with significant experience working with senior executives and deploying Lean Six Sigma in many industries across both manufacturing and service.

Following the course you will receive a Champion's Lean Six Sigma Certificate which is CPD accredited and recognised worldwide.
